

BLAKEGLOW

Model 2250 Audio/Visual Apartment Unit Operation

Stopping Calls

Depressing the nuisance button causes a timer to be set, switches on the timer light and switches off all calls to the unit. Each time the button is depressed, a further hour is added to the time for which the unit is switched off. All the time that the warning light is on, the unit will not receive calls

To find out how many hours are left in the timer, the push button should be depressed for the count of two. On letting go of the button, the light would flash for the number of hours left.

To Allow Calls

If the warning light is on, then depress the button for a period in excess of four seconds, which will reset the timer and enable the unit to talk calls again.

Making Calls

The porter may be contacted by depressing the call porter button. The call is placed in a memory and presented to the porter in the order that calls are made. The porter would call back once the previous switchboard calls have been cleared, there is no need to lift the handset

Receiving Calls

On a call being made to the unit, the internal sounder would sound and, if the call is from an entrance, then a picture of the caller would automatically display on the screen.

By picking up the handset, the user may talk with the caller and may unlock the entrance door by depressing the lock release button.

The unit would automatically switch off after a period of time.